A social movement on anti-corruption with creative approach

I AM A WOMEN AGAINST CORRUPTION called SPAK is a social movement which was born by looking at the condition that the anti-corruption movement seems not move forward as expected

FACTS

- People do not know the difference between corruption and corruptive behavior
- The understanding of corruption is very narrow - people only think corruption is an act that takes state money
- In many places, corruption is widely discussed
 - In confined spaces;
 - More by men
 - Tend to be academic,
 - By those who have a legal background - whereas corruption is not only a matter of law. corruption is a social problem that has a very broad adverse effect for everybody.
- KPK study results in 2012 - 2013 in Solo and Jogjakarta city which stated that only 4% of parents can teach honesty to their children could we suddenly become corruptors?

CORRUPTION &
CORRUPTIVE
BEHAVIOR
