ICDO - 2025

Looking back over the past 85 years of ICDO history, we have reason to be proud yet a lot remains to be done.

The 21st century has not become safer, rather it has definitely become much more difficult and dangerous. New risks, challenges and threats to sustainable development are increasingly diverse... the world is shaken by economic crises and conflicts, natural and man-made disasters, climate change and ecological catastrophes. Taking into consideration our close interdependence, problems of one country or region inevitably become global.

Today the ICDO, with the support of its Member States, has enough potential to provide effective support for improving and strengthening national civil defence organisations and other emergency services.

The ICDO will retain its firm resolve during the course of this decade to support its Member States and the global community in their efforts to overcome natural and man-made disasters.

The road ahead will not be easy, We face many challenges in the field of civil protection but I have no doubt that, united, we will overcome the difficulties and make our planet a better place in which to live.
